

Charles Liew's association with animals started at a young age. He had a little "zoo" in his house where he kept all his pets. His interest in horses came when he was a youth. He joined the BTSC in his early twenties and was learning to ride until an unfortunate fall put him out of action. His association with horses continued despite the injury and has since owned and raced 6 horses as a hobby till today. His favourite horse owned and raced by him is Halo Charles. His work as a company director in a US corporation requires him to make and business trips abroad. Whilst abroad, he always makes it a point to attend the races there whenever opportunity arises. With regard to racing in Singapore, he hopes that the level of racing can be raised through TOAST by contributing the views of fellow horse owners in dialogue with the Singapore Turf Club.
